Free Admission for Weekend of Katrina Remembrance Richard Misrach exhibition, HBO Treme screenings highlight August 28-29 weekend at NOMA

New Orleans, LA – In honor of the fifth anniversary of Hurricane Katrina, the New Orleans Museum of Art (NOMA) hosts a weekend of events, all of which are free and open to the public.

American photographer Richard Misrach will premiere an exhibition: UNTITLED [New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, 2005]: Photographs by Richard Misrach. The exhibition will be open to the public starting on Saturday, August 28, at 10 a.m. in NOMA's first floor Bay Gallery. Saturday evening is a members-only reception with the artist. The exhibition will be on display until October 24, 2010.

Sunday, August 29, Misrach will host a public lecture on his exhibition in the Stern Auditorium at 2 p.m. After the event, he will be signing his catalogues in the Museum Shop.

HBO's Grammy-nominated series Treme will screen in the Stern Auditorium on Saturday and Sunday.

UNTITLED [New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, 2005] exhibition

Misrach's 69 photographs focus on the graffiti left by New Orleans evacuees, revealing a range of individual reactions and giving a human face to the wreckage. Among them are: "Don't Try – I am sleeping inside with a big dog, an ugly woman and two shotguns ..." "Hey Katrina!! That's all you got? We will be back!!" and "Destroy this memory."

Misrach shot the photographs between October and December 2005 with a 4 MP pocket camera. The Houston Museum of Fine Arts is also exhibiting the work. Five complete sets of the work have been created and are now in the permanent collections of NOMA, Houston Museum of Fine Arts, Museum of Modern Art, New York, the National Gallery of Art and the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art.

Catalogue

UNTITLED [New Orleans and the Gulf Coast 2005]: Photographs by Richard Misrach is accompanied by a 140-page, hardcover catalogue, Destroy this Memory: Photographs by Richard Misrach. The book does not contain any essays or titles, allowing the bold graffiti messages captured in the photographs to speak for themselves. Published by Aperture, the catalogue is available in NOMA's Museum Shop for $65.
